What do I do next?

Navigating the aged care system can seem daunting, so we've streamlined the process for you, with four simple steps you can take to move in to a Helping Hand home.

- 1 Have an assessment You will need to have a Government assessment (known as an ACAT assessment) which will give you approval to access a range of aged care services, including respite and permanent accommodation in an aged care home. This can be arranged by your family, your GP or yourself by calling My Aged Care on 1800 200 422.
- 2 Contact us Once you have ACAT approval, contact our Admissions Team to talk about available vacancies. If there are no suitable current vacancies, you can still put in an application to go onto a waiting list. Each of our homes have their own different looks and feels – make sure you arrange a tour of the homes you're interested in, so that you can select the home that fits your wants and needs best.
- 3 Fill in an application The forms in the application pack include an Application Form, Medical Form and Privacy Consent Form. You will also need to provide a copy of your ACAT assessment, and the financial assessment letter from Centrelink (this will let us know whether you will receive assistance from the Government with your accommodation costs, and if you need to pay a means-tested fee. You can find out more about this assessment by calling the Department of Human Services on 1800 227 475).
- 4 Move into your new home Once you have been accepted for a room at one of our homes we will arrange for you, or your representative, to sign the Residential Agreement. When you move in you are encouraged to personalise your room and make it your own with belongings that make you feel at home. Staff at the home will help you settle in, and make sure all your preferences for activities, food and health care needs are discussed and planned with you.
